TWO NICE LEGAL POINTS.

QUESTION REGARDING BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Right of Juries to Convict for a Smaller Offense on a Murder Charge.

A suit was begun in the Chancery Court yesterday, growing out of the late decision in regard to building and loan associations which created to much interest all over the State, and which raises a new and very nice question. The style of the suit is Hugh Nott and wife against the Irish-American Building and Loan Associ-ation. Associators of this character, as is well known, charge so much bonus upon a loan made and the borrower must then pay the legal rate of interest upon the amount borrowed. The theory is that when the concern is wound up it will yield two dollars for every one invested by each stockholder other than those who borrow. The bill filed yesterday claims that all shareholders stand upon the same footing, and that when the association is wound up borrowers are en titled to have their stock doubled in cash, provided they pay back the ex-act amount of the loan and have paid interest upon it regularly. The point may be more plainly stated by giving a hypothetical case. For instance, if A, has ten shares of $100 each and borrows $1200, paying the interes thereon until the association is wound up, he is entitled to $2000 less $1200, the amount of his loan. The amount of bonus paid by him does not of course enter into the question.

Another Nice Point, In the Criminal Court yesterday a motion in arrest of judgment was made which raises a very nice ques-tion for the second time in the history of that court. Not long since a difficulty occurred out on the Pigeon Roset read between Wiley, and his son Felix, Lang and Prince Eops, all colored. The proof showed that Epps was fighting or about to fight with Wiley Lang, when his son interfered and gave him a fatal stab with a knife. a fatal stab with a knife. Father and son were both indicted for murder, and, while Felix was convicted, the old man was found guilty simply of ascault and battery, and fined $155. His attorney yesterday moved to arrest the judgment of the court upon the ground that the offense of as anlt and battery in an indictment for murder was as much a part of it, and merged in it, as the offense of trespass is merged in that of larceny, and that to be found not guilty of one is tantmount to an acquittal of the other. Judge Douglass overruled the motion and sentenced Lang to the Work-House to serve out the fine. The case will go to the Supreme Court, where the question will be finally set at rest. The only other case of the kind was that of Cole, who was found not guilty of the murder of Beach and fined $55 for assault and battery. The prosecution in that case, however, was never carried to the Supreme Court.

SNOW AND SLEET. Weather Enough to Delight the Oldest Inhabitant,

The weather yesterday was the climax of four weeks of the most unmiti-gated "weather" this community ever saw. The wind blew very cold from midnight until about 5 o'clock, when it lulled and a fine snow began falling. The flakes increased in size, and at 10 o'clock fell in a white cloud. The whole face of nature was so and at noon the depth of the snow was about two inches. For an hour or more a fine drizz'e fell, changing in turn to sleet, which continued with more or less violence until 7 o'cleck, when the elect was again changed to enow. The soft flakes drifted down steadily until midnight, when, in many places where it had drifted, the snow was nearly a foot deep. There were few teams out, and the street cars moved very slowly all day and with the greatest difficulty. At 6 o'clock the cars were all stabled, and several were pulled slowly along afterward by four and sometimes six mules. There were a number of mules. There were a number of sleighs out, though the ground was not the best for that kind of sport. The hacks, of course, had a harvest, between the Theater and the charity ball.

ANOTHER DELIVERY

of the Famous Jatl at Marion-A Prisoner's Arm Shattered.

The sheriff of Crittenden county, Arkaness, was in the city yesterday, and reported the eccape and recapture from the jail at Marion, the county seat, the cay before, of three prisoners, one of whom was seriously wounded. A trio of the toughest cus-tomers in the jail broke out, and as they were making off they were discovered by the jailer, who grappled with one of them. The scuffle lasted for some time and the jailer was finally obliged to release his hold. He immediately drew his pistol, and firing after the fugitives brought one of them down. A hue and cry was raised and all three were captured after an exciting chase. The fellow wounded by the jailer was shot in the arm, both bones being broken by the bullet. The limb was so badly shattered that it was considered necessary afterward to amputate it. The sheriff had a time of it with his prisoners at Marion. The is built of brick, with iron cells, but a delivery takes place severa: times every year. The man in yesterday had just been appointed to the place, which was made vacant by discharge of his predecessor for allowing persons to escape.

All migra-tory game is now on the gulf coast, but in the latter part of February and all of March there will be fine gunning. Guns will then be stowed away and the gentle angler will get out his rod availed nothing against the intense interest felt in the charity ball, which, and reel and tie in wait for perch and trout. The new rules of the club allow ministers to participate, and though there are a few parsons in the city who may be too straight laced to take a little healthful air and exercise, there are some who will cordially embrace the invitation of the club.

A SMART DARKY.

LEM CARTER-THE CLOSING OF HIS UNBAVORT CAREER.

Sketch of One of the Most Notorious Scoundrels in This Section of Country.

Among the unsavory citizens who occupied the prizoner's beach at the Criminal Court yesterday was Lem Carter, whose name appears oftener, perhaps, than any other upon the dockets of the police, wagistrates' and Criminal Courts. His glory is now on the wane, but he was once a shining light in the galaxy of colored crooks and has a reputation which entitles him to more than a passing notice. Lem came to Memphis shortly after the war closed, at a time when $10 or $20 a head was gladly paid for hands who would contract for work on the depopulated plantations. Lem had more brains than principle, and for years he un-mercifully fleeced the overseers who came to Memphis in search of labor. His facility for securing hands was remarkable. He delivered whole train leads at a time at the depot, receive his per capita, and as soon as the money was paid hied him away to a rendezvous and awaited the return of his hands, who as a rule sprang from the train at the first station, walked back to town, met him and got their share of the swar, hiring next day in the same way to some other unsuspecting granger. If Carter was arrested, as often happened, he had a patent defense. He never guaranteed the staying quality of the labor he furnished. Another of Carter's schemes was to pretend that he knew of a number of families in the Carolinas or elsewhere who were anxious to move to this section, obtain tickets for them, and deliver the goods upon arrival to some one clae who would pay him the cost of transportation. He finally became so od ous as a labor agent that he was obliged to abandon it, and employed his talents then as the agent for sewing ma-chines, swindling hundreds of hard-working colored women. His last scheme was that of a missionary, and the charge against him yesterday was vagrancy. That he was the king bee of all vagrants, there was no doubt in the minds of judge or jury, but he was so utterly filthy in person that the court wisely concluded not to conaminate the jail with him, and allowed him to go on his promise to leave the city.

THE BALL A BIG SUCCESS.

BRILLIANT GATHERING AT THE PEABODY LAST NIGHT.

Three Thousand Dollars Raised for the Benefit of the Poor of the City.

Nearly a foot of snow, a shower of blinding sleet and a blustering wind after many days of preparation, took place last night at the Peabody Hotel.

The arrangements were all completely made beforehand, and there was no jar, no hitch anywhere, everything going off as merrily as a marriage bell. The enthusiasm with which the so-ciety people of the city entered into the spirit of the thing was something refreshing in a city which, like Mem-phis, whose society has the name of being rather restricted, split up into little circles and choice coteries. Determined that the ball should be a success socially as well as financially they not only spent liberally of their means, but lent their presence as well. Taken altogether, the gathering was one of the most brilliant of the season in point of intelice, culture, beauty and manliness and bridiancy of cestuming. The throng was greatest between 11 and 12 o'clock, when it is estimated that there were not less than 400 people about the corridors and in the dancing hall. The music, by Arnold, lent liveliness to the slowest of the party, few, indeed, being able to withstand the seductiveness of Strauss, as he and his band interpreted it. The supper was ample, palatable, well-served, and Mr. Galloway is to be complimented upon the skill with which he managed that difficult portion of the entertainment. At the door of the dining-room, upon a stand, was displayed a waiter filled with boutonnieres, donated by Cruseman & How-ard of Evergreen Lodge, near Clarksville, which were sold for the benefit of the charity fund. A floral ship sold for the same purpose at the Merchants' Exchange last week, and purchased by Mr. Tom Graham, was put up by him to be drawn by the most popular young lady. At 1:30 o'clock, when the vote was announced, Miss Carrie Grosve-nor was declared the victor, having received 352 votes; Miss Hensley, 262, and Miss Katie Wilkerson, 272. The result was the increase of the fund to the amount of $221 50, making the whole sum realized under the excel-about $3000.

"You stumble in upon some pathetic scenes in your rounds, do you not," queried an APPEAL man yester-day of Patrolman Armstrong, the intelligent officer detailed to look into the condition of applicants for aid.

"Yes, indeed," he responded. "It would make your heart bleed to witness some of the suffering which I encounter in my rounds. I have just come from a visit to a house out on Elliott street where two women, widows, with one child each, are living alone. They had not a lump of ecal, a stick of wood or a morsel of food at the house. They were both weak and sick from hunger and cold. That they are honest people and will-ing to work if they could get it to do, If am well satisfied. And there are plenty of cases justess deserving, and where the necessity for immediate aid is equally as great."

"In what localities do you find most distress?"

"In the large tenement bousses."

"In the large tenement houses, where families live cooped up in one or two rooms.' 'How many cases have you investigated so far? "About 500, as nearly as I can guess Many applications are, of course, granted without investigation, when accompanied by a sufficient indorse-Chief Davis, in speaking of the matter, said he had undertaken, at the solicitation of the committee, to O. K. orders at first, but there were so many applicants that his entire time the first day was taken up, and he had not a moment left to devote to his official du-ties. He had no doubt that the popular estimation of the great distress vailing among the poor of the city was warranted by the facts. Hundreds, he said, who were obliged to daily labor out of doors for their meat and bread had been unable to turn a wheel for more than a month, and as most of them lived from hand to mouth, depending each day for their suste day, the distress and real need must

ONE of the principal objects in this discussion is to compare the attitudes of the two great schools, of economic writers towards the practical questions of the day, the labor question, the relation of ethics to the principles which rule in the conduct of business, etc., etc.

THE February numebr of Dorcas, a magazine of woman's handiwork, has been received. It is a valuable aid to women who have a love for home decoration, and is worth more in one month than the price of the yearly subscription.

Ix an interesting paper on "South American Bird-Music," contributed to the English scientific journal Nature, a correspondent says: "There is a charm in the infinite variety of birdlanguage heard in a sub-tropical forest, where birds are most abundant, ex-ceeding that of many monotonously melodious voices; the listener would not willingly lose any of the many in-describable sounds emitted by the sma'ler species, or the screams and human-like calls, or solems, deep tooming or drumming of the larger kinds, or even the piercing shrieks, which may be heard miles away."

We have received advance shee € announcing the Report of the American Forestry Congress of its Boston meeting, to be issued shortly. The statistical part of the volume and the general demands made for forest preservation, together with papers on utilization of timberman's waste in manufacturing charcoal, and the more novel proposition to use it as a fertilizer, and the discussion of means to diminish losses by fire, demonstrate that economy with present forest resources is first o all to be attained. The encourage#### ment of the alms of the society in this respect may well be considered a patriotic task. Requests for advance sheets or subscriptions of $1 for the volume should be sent to B. E. Fer-

now, secretary, 13 Burling Slip, New York. "Without Blemish; To-Day's Prob-lem," is the title of Mrs. J. H. Wal-worth's last novel. It is published by Cassell & Co. of New York, and has for its aim "to maintain that the problem of the negro's future can be rolved by the people who know him and to whom he is bound by ties more enduring than the chains of slavery to maintain that his mental and moral emancipation must be wrought out on the spot where he is destined to make his home for all time to come," which she says "is simply to espouse the cause of truth and justice," all of which the author does in a very inter-esting novel, pervaded by the intense interest and peculiar charm with which Mrs. Walworth invests all her works.

THE NEW OFFICIALS

OF THE GREAT HUNTINGTON SYS-TEM OF RAILROADS

Southern Passenger Rates-Presen tation to Supt. Fleming-Ogden's Successor Appointed,

A few days since a meeting of the holders of stock of all of Huntington's roads east of this city, was held here, and the result was a consolidation under the name of the Newport News and Mississippi Valley Company. The first circular issued, which is just at hand, is signed by Gon. Wickham, second vice-president, and is as follows: The Elizabethtown, Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad, heretofore operated by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, will hereafter be operated as a part of the Eastern division of this company, and under authority invested in me by the presi-dent of the company, the following appointments are made for the conduct of business: W. B. Rider, general superintendent; B. S. Fitch, freight traffic manager; H. W. Fuller, general passenger and ticket agent; M. L. Quinn, chief engineer; John Gar-rett, cashier; T. J. Chapman, superin-tendent of motive power. The headquarters of the above officers will be in Richmond. J. D. Yarrington, superintendent, and W. W. Mowrre, general agent, with headquarters at Lexington.

To the officers located at Richmond are committed the general supervision and direction in their respective departments on this division. The superintendent at Lexington will report to the general superintendent at Richmond, but he shall have charge of all the real estate and personal property including shops, engine-house, sta-tions and other buildings, the main tenance of the track repairs, of the rolling stock and the proper transaction of the business on his division. The general agent at Lexington will report to the traffic officers at Richmond, and shall, under their direction, have charge of soliciting and procuring through freight and passengers and the making of local rates both on freight and passengers. He is spe-cially charged with the development of the local freight and passenger traffic, and shall confer with the superintendent of the division and officers of the company in regard to all mat-ters that will in his judgment develop the commercial and industrial interests along his division. Southern Passenger Rates. It is claimed that Mr. Collbran, general passenger agent of the Cincinnati Southern, is asking more than the representatives of the other line are willing that he shall have. He wants to make rates through Houston to Sherman, via Memphis, still holding a higher rate to Houston. To this the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia object. A strong effort will be made to arrange a compromise of these differences, otherwise it is believed that there will be some more trouble in passenger traffic. The fact that the Cincinnati Southern is not a member of the Southern Passenger Committee places her in position to make the fight.

Handsome Testimontal. General Superintendent Fleming of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad, who left here for Little Rock, Sunday, was surprised Monday by a call at his car of leading citizens who, on behalf of Little Rock friends and former employes, presented him with a $1000 watch and a pair of sleeve-buttons. The presentation speech was made by Mayor John D. Adams of Little Rock. A very neat response was made by Mr. Fleming.

Ogden's Successor, Gen. A. Pope, passenger agent of the Norfolk and Western Shenandoah Valley railroad, has been appointed general freight agent of the East Ten-nessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, to succeed Jas. R. Ogden, recently ap pointed pool commissioner of the consolidated traffic lines south of the Ohio river.
